Key Takeaways

Fiber optic patch cords in Uganda currently range from approximately USh 5,000 to USh 50,000 depending on type, length, and connector configuration.Price Range and Options
• Jiji Uganda lists over 24 fiber optic patch cords starting from USh 5,000, with variations in length (1m, 2m, 5m, 10m), type (single-mode or multi-mode), and connectors (LC-LC, SC-SC) for both simplex and duplex configurations .

• Jumia Uganda offers single-mode fiber optic patch cables suitable for long-distance, high-bandwidth applications like FTTH, data centers, and backbone networks. Prices vary depending on length and connector type, typically starting around USh 15,000–USh 30,000 for standard 3–5 meter cables .

• Local computer shops in Kampala provide fiber patch cords for enterprise and office networks, supporting high-speed communication and backbone infrastructure. Prices are competitive and may include additional services like installation or bulk discounts .
Key Considerations
• Type of Fiber: Single-mode (SMF) is ideal for long-distance and high-bandwidth applications, while multi-mode (MMF) is suitable for shorter distances.

• Connector Type: Common connectors include LC, SC, and ST. Duplex cables support bidirectional communication, while simplex cables are unidirectional.

• Length: Standard lengths range from 1m to 10m, with longer cables generally costing more.

• Quality and Durability: Look for cables with durable jackets and low attenuation for reliable performance, especially in critical systems or data centers.
Purchasing Tips
• Compare prices across Jiji Uganda and Jumia Uganda to find the best deal.

• Consider bulk purchases if deploying multiple connections, as suppliers may offer discounts.

• Verify the specifications (single-mode vs multi-mode, connector type, and length) to ensure compatibility with your network equipment. By considering these factors, you can obtain a fiber optic patch cord that meets your technical requirements while staying within your budget in Uganda.
