Estonian-specific cable tray production

Overview

We have a manufacturing facility on-site with modern equipment and advanced technology for creating the top-quality products.

Key Takeaways

Estonia has a specialized cable tray production sector with local manufacturers producing metal and wire mesh trays for domestic and international markets.Market Overview

The Estonian cable tray market includes both metal and plastic trays, with production influenced by demand in construction, industrial, and data infrastructure sectors. The market is structured around a few key players, and production volumes have been tracked over the last five years, reflecting steady growth driven by modernization projects and industrial expansion in Estonia .

Key Manufacturers
• K.MET AS: Founded in 1991, K.MET AS produces custom-made steel and stainless steel wire products, including wire baskets and welded wire nets, which can be adapted for cable tray applications. They combine tube and sheet metal processing with powder coating and galvanization services, serving clients in Estonia and neighboring countries .

• ORTG (Orient Technogroup): This company focuses on cable materials production, converting components from global suppliers into products suitable for cable applications in Estonia. Their expertise includes understanding market needs and producing specialized cable components .

• A-Kaabel: While primarily an installation company, A-Kaabel also handles cable tray systems for fiber-optic and medium voltage networks, indicating a close integration between production and installation services in Estonia .
Production Types and Capabilities

Estonian manufacturers produce a variety of cable trays, including:

• Wire mesh trays: Durable and easy to install, suitable for industrial and commercial applications.

• Metal trays and ladders: For heavy-duty electrical and data cabling.

• Custom solutions: Many companies offer tailored designs combining wire, sheet metal, and tube components, often with surface treatments like powder coating or galvanization .
Market Trends
• Increasing demand for high-speed data infrastructure has boosted the need for cable trays in server rooms and industrial facilities.

• Export-oriented production is common, with Estonian companies supplying neighboring Nordic and Baltic countries.

• Integration of digitalization and modern manufacturing technologies is ongoing, enhancing production efficiency and quality control .
Conclusion

Estonia's cable tray production is characterized by specialized, high-quality manufacturing with a focus on wire mesh and metal trays. Local companies like K.MET AS and ORTG provide both standard and custom solutions, serving domestic needs and export markets, while installation companies like A-Kaabel complement production with integrated services .
