

What are some optical cable manufacturers and hardware manufacturers

Overview

The top 10 suppliers and manufacturers of optical cables in 2026. offering high-speed connectivity, durable builds, and reliable performance across networks.

Key Takeaways

Leading optical cable manufacturers include Corning, Prysmian, FS, PHILISUN, and TS Cables, while hardware suppliers often overlap with these companies or include specialized network equipment providers.

Top Fiber Optic Cable Manufacturers

Corning Inc. – A global leader in fiber optics, Corning pioneered low-loss optical fiber in 1970 and holds about 10.4% of the global market. They produce single-mode and multimode fibers, fiber optic cable assemblies, and advanced materials for telecom and data center applications, with a strong focus on R&D and next-generation 800G Ethernet solutions.

Prysmian Group – Based in Italy, Prysmian is a major manufacturer of submarine, fire-resistant, and high-performance optical cables. They emphasize sustainability and innovation, producing bend-optimized fibers for 5G and long-haul networks.

F

S (Fiberstore) – FS specializes in optical fiber, transceivers, and network hardware, providing solutions for data centers and enterprise networks. They are known for agile supply and application-specific products.

PHILISU

N – A manufacturer and supplier of fiber optic cables and assemblies, PHILISUN focuses on high-quality connectivity solutions for global telecom and enterprise networks.

T

S Cables – TS Cables offers a wide range of fiber optic products for both small-scale and large-scale installations, emphasizing durability, performance, and ease of installation. Other notable manufacturers – Dekam-Fiber, CommMesh, and Superior Essex are recognized for high-performance cables and compliance with standards like Build America, Buy America.

Hardware Manufacturers and Suppliers

Many fiber optic cable manufacturers also provide hardware components such as connectors, patch panels, transceivers, and optical distribution frames. Key players include: Corning – Offers optical connectors, hardware for FTTx, and data center solutions.

F

S – Supplies transceivers, switches, and optical networking hardware for enterprise and data center applications. Prysmian – Provides turnkey systems including cable trays, enclosures, and installation hardware. Specialized hardware vendors – Companies like CommScope, Belden, and TE Connectivity focus on optical network hardware, including connectors, adapters, and fiber management systems.

Considerations for Selection

Network requirements – Single-mode vs. multimode, long-haul vs. data center applications. Compliance and standards – BEAD compliance, low-loss fiber, bend-insensitive designs. Innovation and support – R&D investment, technical support, and product reliability.

Regional availability – Some manufacturers have production facilities in multiple countries to meet local demand. These manufacturers and hardware suppliers collectively cover the full spectrum of optical networking needs, from raw fiber production to complete network deployment solutions.
