Key Takeaways

For durable and cost-effective stainless steel cable trays in Botswana, suppliers like Atkore, MP Husky, and Apex Tray offer high-quality options with long-term value.

Key Suppliers and Options

Atkore International is a global manufacturer known for its extensive cable tray systems, including stainless steel options suitable for industrial and commercial projects. They provide customizable solutions, extended warranties, and reliable delivery, making them a strong choice for bulk orders and long-term projects.

M

P Husky offers a wide range of cable tray systems, including stainless steel ladder, perforated, and wire mesh trays. Their products are UL and CSA certified, ensuring compliance with international standards, and they provide fast delivery options, which is beneficial for projects in Botswana. Apex Tray specializes in corrosion-resistant stainless steel cable trays, including grades 304 and 316L.

Their trays are designed for long-term durability, with lifespans ranging from 25 to 50+ years depending on the environment. This makes stainless steel a cost-effective choice compared to galvanized trays, especially in industrial or humid conditions.

Considerations for Best Value

Material Grade: For general industrial use, 304 stainless steel is sufficient, while 316L is recommended for highly corrosive or coastal environments. Tray Type: Ladder trays are ideal for heavy cables and maximum airflow, perforated trays for moderate airflow and cable support, and solid bottom trays for dust or moisture protection. Longevity vs.

Cost: Stainless steel trays have higher upfront costs but significantly lower maintenance and replacement costs compared to galvanized trays, offering better long-term value. Supplier Support: Choose suppliers offering technical consultation, modular systems, and installation guidance to optimize project efficiency and reduce labor costs.

Recommendation

For Botswana, importing from Atkore International or MP Husky provides access to high-quality, certified stainless steel cable trays with reliable delivery and customization options. For local or regional sourcing, Apex Tray offers durable, corrosion-resistant trays that maximize long-term value, especially in industrial or commercial installations. Comparing pricing, delivery times, and warranty options from these suppliers will help identify the best value for your specific project needs.
